the moment everything changes

It usually starts quietly. A young person alone in their room. A knot in their chest. A phone in their hand, hovering over a number or webchat they're not sure they should connect with. This is one of the moments that matters most.

When they reach out to Kids Helpline, there are only two possible outcomes. Someone answers. Or they sit with it alone. Thanks to ticket buyers like you, someone answers.

Our supporters fund half of Kids Helpline. Every second call or webchat answered, every second counselling session provided is made possible by our community. You may never meet this young person, but you make this moment possible.

On the line is a counsellor who listens and reminds them they are not broken, weak, or alone. For some young people, this conversation is the difference between getting through the night or not.

Easter is often described as a time of renewal. But renewal doesn't always look like celebration. Sometimes it looks like one conversation that brings grounding and hope.

From the outback to the city, you help keep Kids Helpline available 24/7, free and confidential. Every ticket helps ensure a safety net is there for the moments that matter.
